

January 20, 2016, Chapter 13 Docket
Special Arrangements In Case of Inclement Weather

Due to the forecast for snow, the following variations from the normal procedures will be implemented for the January 20, 2016, Chapter 13 docket:

1. Anyone unable to appear in person due to weather conditions may appear telephonically by using the call-in number below.
2. If all parties are in agreement to a continuance, the request will be granted without the necessity of a court appearance – even if it is not the first time the matter is set. If the parties do agree, counsel should notify the Chapter 13 Trustee by the end of the day on Tuesday, January 19, 2016 (including information about who will be submitting the order of continuance), so that the Trustee can make an appropriate announcement at the docket call.
3. If a matter requires testimony or substantive argument and any of the parties or counsel cannot appear personally due to the weather, the hearing may be continued by the Court to a later date. Therefore, parties are encouraged to reach an agreement in advance regarding a convenient date for a subsequent hearing in the event a continuance is ordered by the Court.
4. The call-in information is as follows:
